Programme Overview

Relational problems are rising among couples, children and their families in Singapore. These problems are often presented at Family Service Centres, Child Guidance Clinics, and Psychological Medicine Departments in hospitals. Given the increasing clinical demands for trained counsellors in this area, the specialisation track in Couple and Family Therapy (CFT) will be offered within the existing Master of Counselling and Master of Social Work programmes.

The Master of Counselling-CFT and Master of Social Work-CFT programmes will focus on achieving a higher quality of training and clinical competency of its therapists.

Unique Features of CFT Specialisation Track

- Emphasises on the robust and systematic training of students to be clinically competent therapists. Students will develop clinical values, skills and knowledge that are grounded in evidence-based practices
- Equips graduates with clinical skills that will effectively address, manage and treat relationship problems in couples, as well as parent-child issues, arising from childhood developmental problems
- It will be the first in Singapore to systematically train competent CFT therapists at a tertiary institution for the mental health sectors

Career Prospects

Graduates can look forward to career opportunities in Family Service Centres, Social Service Agencies, hospitals, schools and private clinics helping families and children with behavioural and/or developmental issues.
