Transforming Lives, Serving Society

The S R Nathan School of Human Development (NSHD) is a multidisciplinary school dedicated to the applied study of inherent human potential across a broad spectrum of social disciplines. The School's teaching and research encompass the range of factors influencing the abilities of the individual, the family and the community. With programmes from early childhood education to gerontology, our interests cover humanity's socio-cultural growth throughout a lifespan. Our work has the advancement of service at its heart, and this is especially manifested in disciplines such as social work and counselling. Other programmes, such as education, human resource management, and community leadership recognise the dynamic relationship between the individual and the community as one that is transformative, and always with the extension of wellbeing as an imperative.

The School's vision of "Transforming Lives, Serving Society" is a tribute to the legacy of the late President S.R. Nathan. His contribution to Singapore's social service sector, the labour movement, as well as other nurturing professions, continues to inspire our dedication.

Programme Overview

The rapidly ageing population in Singapore and concomitant need for trained professionals in the health, social and psychological services have given rise to an imperative need for graduate programmes in gerontology. As the needs of older persons are specialised, dedicated attention within the training to address specific characteristics such as the ageing process demands for interdisciplinary courses in gerontology.

SUSS offers flexible entry and exit points to suit different academic needs. One can choose to take certain gerontology courses on their own, or build them up to a Graduate Certificate, Graduate Diploma or Master of Gerontology, subject to meeting the necessary requirements. There is also a PhD in Gerontology programme for those who wish to pursue a doctoral degree in gerontology. SUSS's Master of Gerontology, with Graduate Certificate, Graduate Diploma and PhD options, is the first in Singapore to offer holistic training for a rewarding career in the eldercare sector. Graduates from the programme will have acquired advanced knowledge and skills to be leaders and consultants in the field of gerontology. They will be prepared to perform challenging roles and functions in both government and private sectors.

Unique Features of the Programme

- Enrol for any standalone module of your interest
- Exciting array of modules and range of lecturers from local and overseas contexts
- Blend of theoretical and practical teaching modes
- Flexible enrolment by individual modules for credits

Most importantly, what distinguishes the programme from others are that:

- there are frequent tie-ups with industry partners which can help students establish valuable networks;
- students are often informed of industry activities and even have a chance to be involved in them due to our amicable relationships with our partners;
- students are able to do various applied projects to solve the community issues together with our partners; and
- students are able to attend international dialogues with scholars and practitioners who are passionate about ageing matters.

Whom is this for?

The programme is for professionals in the eldercare industry such as social workers, nurses, occupational and physiotherapists, counsellors and managers. It is also suitable for those who wish to switch careers and enter the eldercare/silver industry.

Career Prospects

The programme is recognised by the Ministry of Social and Family Development, National Council of Social Service, Ministry of Health, Gerontological Society and Workforce Development Agency. Graduates can apply for positions in government, statutory boards, profit and not-for-profit agencies and eldercare services.

Messages from Our Alumni

“ I am grateful to SUSS for it has equipped me with the skill sets to understand gerontology as a science and art through practice, and an art and science through research. Its balanced approach on life course and bio-psychosocial understanding of ageing has enriched my caregiving journey. It was a natural choice to study in SUSS given its strong gerontology faculty, the learning environment and support that made my gerontological study ever so enjoyable and meaningful. ”

MR TAN TAI KIAT, Chief Operating Officer, Singhealth Community Hospitals

“ The programme facilitated deep reflection on how we can better create environments that nurture our seniors to age well and holistically. It is heartening to know that with collective effort, the right tools and network, we can reverse trends such as chronic illnesses and face the future with much optimism. I am proud to be a part of the alumni network as we work closely to solve issues and serve the community lovingly and impactfully. ”

MS DEAN NG, Co-Founder, The Affirmative People

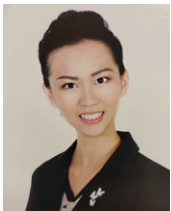

“ The multidisciplinary approach in the curriculum has enriched my worldviews to look at issues with a more holistic perspective. I am applying what I have learnt in my current work at ActiveSG to promote healthy ageing and to encourage Singaporeans to lead an active lifestyle and transform our Singaporean Spirit together! ”

MR SNG HOCK LIN, Chief, Silver Generation Office, Agency for Integrated Care (AIC)

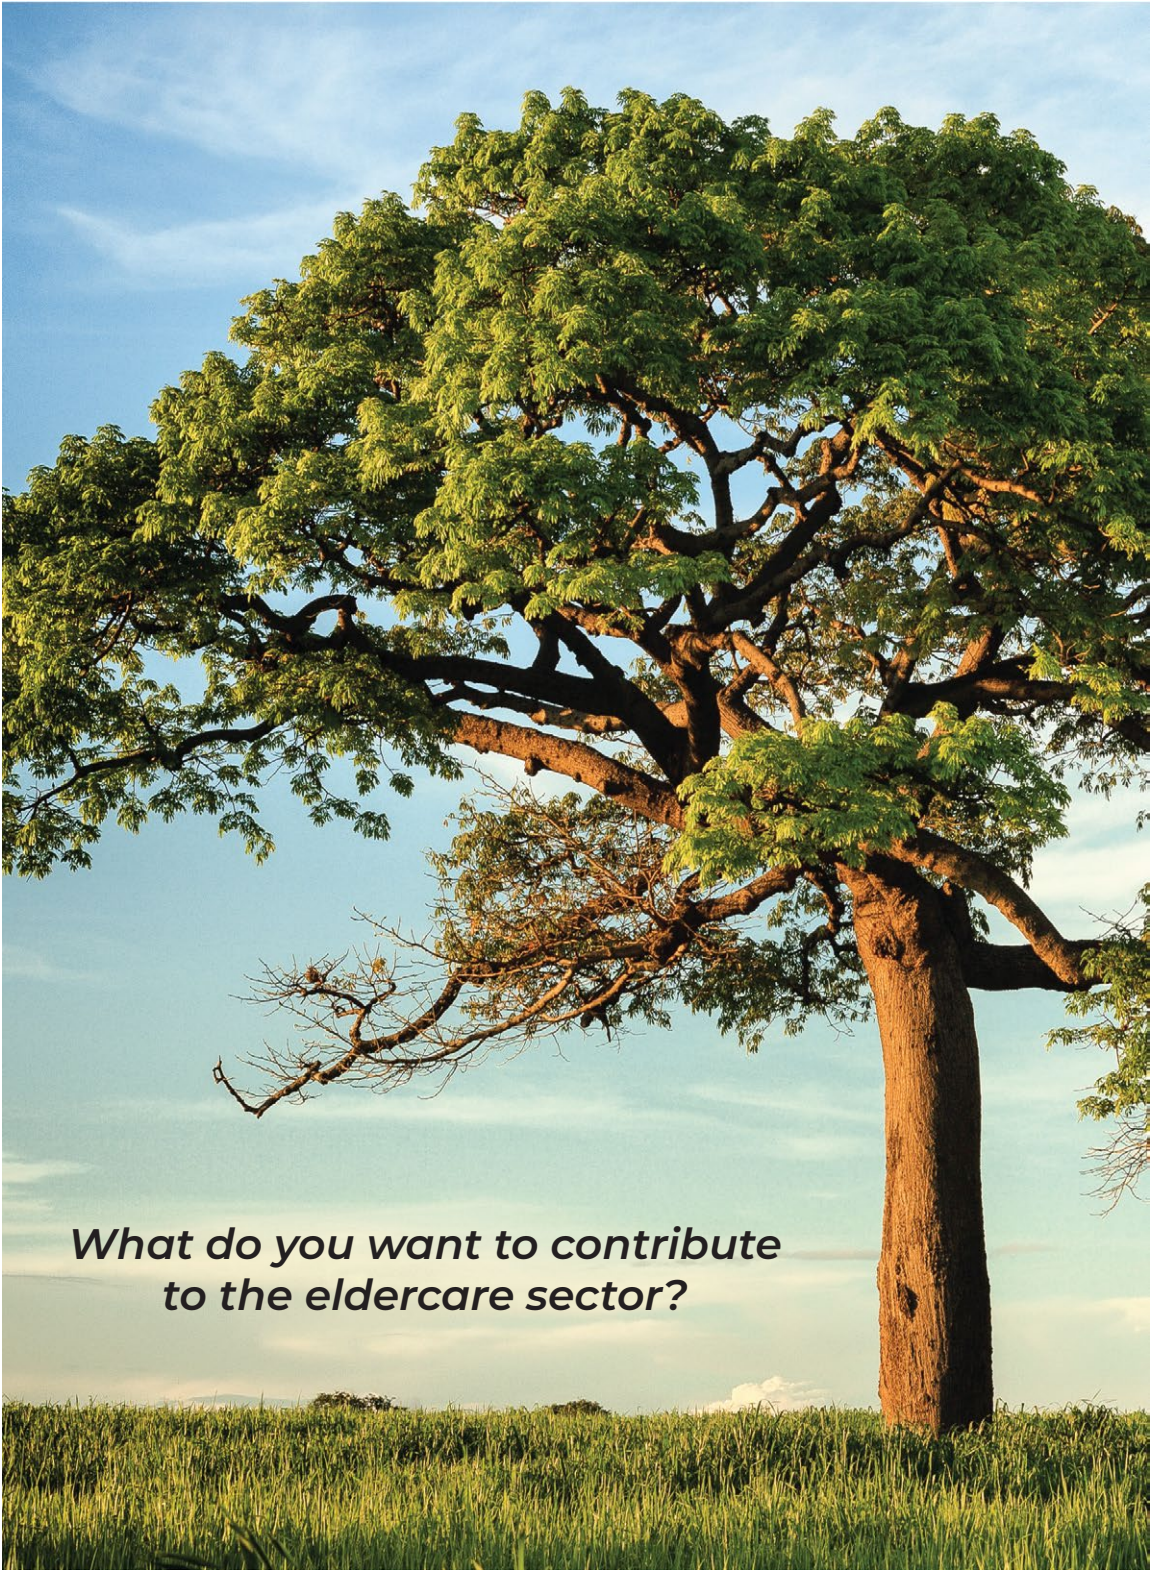

“ The course enlightened me about the non-visible psychological, social and spiritual changes that a person experiences during ageing. With the right problem statement defined, I can derive values-driven technological solution to address the issues. Blending technology, business and sociology knowledge cum experiences, I can help the sector to leapfrog to the next frontier. ”

MS KHOR HWAI LIN, Vice-President, Business Development and Strategy, Zero-Error Systems (ZES)

“ I received good support from my professors, faculty members from the Gerontology programme and fellow PhD course mates. We shared materials, encouraged and lent support to one another. My PhD journey is meaningful as the school and my applied research is aligned with my intent to contribute and benefit our society. ”

DR ANG XIN YEE AMBERLYCE, Organisation Transformation Senior Planner, Ministry of Defence

Admission Criteria

Applicants must possess an undergraduate degree or an equivalent qualification from a recognised institution.

For SUSS graduate programmes that are conducted in the English Language, you must meet the English Language Proficiency Requirement (ELPR)* if your undergraduate degree is not awarded by an English-medium university, or your undergraduate degree is awarded by an English-medium university but the language of instruction was not English.

 at least an IELTS (Academic) score of 6.5, or a TOEFL score of 580 (paper-based) or 85 (internet-based), or a PTE Academic score of 58, or C1 Advanced score of 180 [score must be obtained within the last 2 years at point of application].*

Applicants with an undergraduate degree that was conducted in English but awarded by a non-English medium university must produce an official letter from the university to certify as such in order to seek waiver of the ELPR requirement.

In addition, you will need to meet these minimum requirements for the PhD in Gerontology programme:

- A bachelor's degree, preferably with a second class honours and above in a relevant discipline from a reputable university or equivalent qualification; and
- A master's degree or its equivalent; and
- A minimum of two years of work experience

You are also required to submit the following documents when applying for the programme:

- A personal statement of interest and reasons for choosing this programme - 500 words
- A research proposal - 4,000 words (including references)

Shortlisted applicants will be required to undergo one or more interviews and/or take such written admission or other evaluation tests as may be prescribed by SUSS from time to time.

All applications are considered individually on merit, and the offer of admission is dependent on the number of places available in individual programmes. Admission is solely at the discretion of SUSS and the decision is final and binding. SUSS reserves the right to refuse admission and is not obliged to offer an explanation for the non-admission of unsuccessful candidates.

Tuition Fees

The amount of course fees you pay in each semester depends on the number of courses you take in that semester. The course fees cover all study materials, classes, tutor supervision, assignments and examinations. They do not include fees for textbooks and other additional items specified by SUSS from time to time.

All fees are reviewed annually and may be revised. SUSS reserves the right to adjust the fees without prior notice.

Funding and Sponsorships Schemes

VCF funding is available for Singaporeans and Permanent Residents who are from NCSS member SSAs and MSF-funded SSAs. To apply for VCF Funding, please visit the NCSS website. Interested SSA staff can be advised to apply for VCF under non pre-approval on a case-by-case basis.

Outstanding students enrolled in the PhD in Gerontology and Master of Gerontology programmes may also apply for the Alice Lim Memorial Fund sponsorship, amongst others.

Applicants from health-related organisations should check with their respective organisations and health clusters for possible sponsorship.
