

FLM361 Scriptwriting: Telling a Compelling Story

Level: 3

Credit Units: 5 Credit Units

Language: ENGLISH

Presentation Pattern: EVERY JULY

Synopsis:

FLM361 Scriptwriting: Telling a Compelling Story asks you to consider what stories you wish to write. How do you convey your unique perspective and voice in a way that says something meaningful, which would resonate with audiences?

The course takes you through the process of brainstorming an idea, structuring it to include critical plot points and suspense, while imbuing it with a strong theme. You will learn about the elements of a good story and how to introduce and flesh out characters. You will also practise how to write action descriptions which incorporate props and setting, as well as dialogue.

Through a series of practical writing and critique exercises, you will develop and write a script for a two-minute narrative that emphasises visual storytelling. You will also be required to pitch your story ideas using loglines, which is a necessary industry skill. The course will also examine genre and social issues, using analysis of films and screenplays to discuss plot, structure, dialogue, and subtext.

Topics:

- Scriptwriting Basics
- Ingredients of a Compelling Script
- From Idea to Logline and Pitch
- Developing Complex Characters
- Character Types
- Character Introductions
- Story, Plot, and Structure
- Three-Act Structure
- Beat, Treatment, and Outline
- Formatting the Script
- Action Descriptions
- Dialogue and Subtext
- Theme
- Writer's Voice
- Writing is Rewriting . . . and More Rewriting
- The Rewriting Process
- How to Deliver Notes and Feedback

Textbooks:

By David Howard and Edward Mabley.: The Tools of Screenwriting: A Writer's Guide to the Craft and Elements of a Screenplay. St. Martin's Press
ISBN-13: 9780312119089

By Blake Snyder.: Save the Cat! The Last Book on Screenwriting You'll Ever Need. Michael Wiese Productions
ISBN-13: 9781932907001

By Blake Snyder.: Save the Cat! The Last Book on Screenwriting You'll Ever Need. Michael Wiese Productions
ISBN-13: 9781932907001-AA

By David Howard and Edward Mabley.: The Tools of Screenwriting: A Writer's Guide to the Craft and Elements of a Screenplay. St. Martin's Press
ISBN-13: 9780312119089-AA

Learning Outcome:

- Analyse screenplays and build relevant knowledge of screenwriting by examining genre, characterisation, plot, story structure and flow, dialogue, and subtext.
- Examine basic character archetypes and how they are utilised across different cultures and genres.
- Use screenwriting principles to advance story, develop and reveal character, and craft characters with clear goals, needs, dilemma, and relevant story purpose.
- Construct and plot scenes with clear cause and effect and visual transition, and write scenes that externalise conflict, desires, and emotions.
- Develop and write loglines with an active protagonist, clear goals, strong dilemma, and stakes.
- Create and write a script, revise it, incorporate story notes, and format it professionally, in the required television and film industry format.

Assessment Strategies:

Continuous Assessment Component	Weightage (%)
PRE-CLASS QUIZ	3
PRE-CLASS QUIZ	3
PRE-CLASS QUIZ	4
TUTOR-MARKED ASSIGNMENT	20
TUTOR-MARKED ASSIGNMENT	20
Sub-Total	50

Examinable Component	Weightage (%)
ECA	50
Sub-Total	50

Weightage Total 100